

HALT AND CATCH FIRE

Crossbar.io is a technology driven startup focused on building a new decentralized Internet. As part of our vision to connect data with value, we are creating XBR - our own crypto currency. We are deeply rooted in the values of Open Source and are passionate about bleeding edge technology with a view to implementing our vision of a more open future.

You will become a valuable part of our growing, global team. You will be dealing with customers over multiple time-zones at irregular hours and across disparate communication channels, all with a view to bringing our vision to life. Along the way you'll learn insanely much about secure, distributed communications software, Open Source Software development, crypto currencies & blockchain-based technology and communicate this to non-technical audiences.

From eclectic music, to snowboarding & skiing, to bee-keeping, to motorcycling, to skate and hoverboarding, to FPV, to pinball machines or travelling the world we deeply value hobbies and what we love outside work (and so should you!)

Are you ready to give your life a real purpose? Are you striving for excellence and are you serious about your personal autonomy?

Then we should talk.

Tell us something technical you've learned about recently, a good book you've read, and why you think the above sounds exactly like the right place for you to work.

<welcome@crossbario.com>

Crossbar.io GmbH
Waldstraße 18
91054 Erlangen